

Australasian Particle Technology Society Student Conference 2018

Date: 29-30 September 2018 (Full day on 29th and Half day on 30th)

Conference Venue: Lake Hayes Pavilion, Queenstown, New Zealand

The Australasian Particle Technology Society (APTS) will host its 3rd Student Conference on 29-30 September 2018 (prior to Chemeca 2018) in beautiful Queenstown, New Zealand. The conference will feature presentations in oral and/or poster sessions, in which students can share their current research in Particle Science, Technology and Engineering with their colleagues, receive feedback, and be provided a platform to seek future collaboration.

Registration will be FREE for student and regular members* of APTS and NZ$ 120 for non-members. The registration cost will cover catering and transportation between Queenstown town center and the Lake Hayes Pavilion. Participants will need to arrange their own accommodation.

The APTS Student Conference is now welcoming abstract submission to Dr. Alex Yip by email (alex.yip@canterbury.ac.nz). The deadline of abstract submission is 15 May 2018 and the students will be notified by email with regard to acceptance and mode of presentation (oral or poster) by early July. The abstract template can be found via the Dropbox link:

The registration link for the conference will open before 30 June 2018.

We strongly encourage students who are doing research on all aspects of Particle Technology to participate and we look forward to seeing you in Queenstown!
